

11.02.2008

Not an Ordinary Week

I think the attention of the nation -- and the world -- will be a bit diverted this week, but if you find yourself in the mood for a design-related break, please visit domino's Daily Dose. I'm guest blogging over there and sharing some tips from talented designers.

Atlanta designer Perry Walter shows how he created a fresh dining room for a young couple using their grandma's things. Peter Dunham suggests ways I might use his textiles on my own existing furniture (that's his sketch above along with his lovely Indian Chintz). We learn which chairs New Orleans-based lighting designer Fifi Laughlin plans to never give away. And Lee Kleinhalter, known for her love of white, cautions "don't paint everything white."

Click here to flip through domino's new decorating bible.

(Look for the second installment of the Dunham textile posts to appear on domino's Daily Dose after Election Day.)

POSTED BY STYLE COURT AT 11:59 PM

LABELS: DOMINO, PETER DUNHAM